

Data Center Advisory Committee 8-5-26 Meeting Summary

The data center advisory committee met on August 5. They discussed the local movement on the state and local level regarding data centers. There are many bills that are in limbo regarding water/energy use, safety of water usage, environmental contamination, water use permitting, community impact processes, to name a few.

With these issues being discussed at higher levels, the committee is not going to rush their work. They have all done research on different issues and they are being compiled into a draft document. Everyone will continue to work toward the most stringent options and strategies to implement in an ordinance that both financially and time-wise would cripple any potential development proposed. They will adjust their information to reflect the most current state/federal mandates.

A tentative meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday, August 19th. They plan to have their first draft document available to discuss.
